Honorable Renata B. Hesse:

The proposed final judgement is extremely flawed, and does not sufficiently address Microsoft's illegal and monopolistic behavior. Many people assuredly have written to you about this same issue; I'll not repeat their arguments, as I agree with those available online at <http://www.kegel.com/remedy/letter.html> and <http://www.kegel.com/remedy/remedy2.html>.

The proposed settlement is insufficient to prevent Microsoft from putting other companies unfairly out of business and further violating antitrust laws. Please reconsider the proposal, to include full release of API documentation to ISVs, prohibition of more practices against OEMs and ISVs, and prohibitions against monopolistic actions against end users ("desktops"). Again in this area, I agree with the full document online at <http://www.kegel.com/remedy/remedy2.html#fix>.

Thank you for your time and consideration.
